Shaffer' Rapidly Whipping the Men Into Shape, and Is Encouraged.

OUTFIELDERS ALL DO WELL

Spiders and Professionals Play To-Day, and Trinity To-Morrow.

Richmond's showing against Jack Dunn's Baltimore Orioles on Saturday

Dunn's Baltimore Orioles on Saturday was very encouraging to both the officials of the club and to the fans.

One thing it should do more than anything clae is to give the men the confidence which they seemed to lack in the game with old Fox Griffith's New York Highlanders on Saturday a week ago, when the locals received their worst drubbing of the senson. While baseball is one of the most inconsistent of sports when it comes to sizing up teams on the comparative scores of single games, it is not begging the question to say that the Lawmakers' defeat of the Griffithites' conquerors shows the locals to have the class to run the best of the Virginia State League teams the hardest race of their lives when the season once gets under way.

In the outfield the men all handled themsives well in Saturday's game. Titman, besides making good with his shashing three-bagger, his first time up, accepted two difficult chances nicely, while Heffron and Cowan, who replaced Wallace in centre in the second round, each took care of three chances. Cowan, besides handling three flies, had an assist to his credit.

The inhelders, though they did not do so well as the gardeners, did creditable work, with the exception of Kirkpatrick's two miscues, Salve's wild heave to first, and Finton's two passed talls. The mistakes made by the two kirkpatrick's two miscues, Salve's wild heave to first, and l'inton's two passed balls. The mistakes made by the two last mentioned are, however, partially excusable. Salve's arm is still a little sore, and his work in mowing down five of the opposing batsmen and allowing but two hits in five inrings does much to atone for that one bad toss. Hinton's two passed balls were due to the fact that the little finger on his right hand is in very nasty shape, and he is to be praised for doing as well as he did. His work in throwing to bases and his capture of Crook's mean foul in the fourth deserve mention.

Little O'Neil, at second, had a busfattle Oxell, at second, had a busy day. He appeared to be everywhere at once, and his whipping over the ball to Shaffer, after difficult catches, was nothing short of marvelous. The "count" had two putouts in the final reckoning and three assists.

Reeve woke the echoes in the first half of the ninth, and for a time made it look as though Richmond would come out on top. He was first up, and pasted the first ball which Mueller put to him for a pretty two-bagger. The fotes were against them, however, for the next three men up went out in order, and Reeve's work went for naught.

Hinton will be the proud possessor of a new coat sweater to-day. It is the gift of Frank Jennings, a ticket-seller at the Broad Street ground, who promised it to the plucky little catcher if he hit 500 or over in the first game in which he was behind the bat. Hinton had his chance against Malfachi Kittredge's Montreal brayes, and hit 606 for the game.

The 8-iders are due to play the Law-makers at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and the collegians are going to give the league players a run for their money. They made a good showing against the professionals in their former game with them, and they will try hard to score on them to-day. Wright, Richmond College's strong little pitcher, will probably go into the firing pit, and Woodlin will substitute for him. For the Lawmakers, ng. Derby and Still will probably do the work in the box.

RICHMOND'S CRACK SHORTSTOP CHICAGO TEAMS

Reeve has shown up wonderfully well in the training season, and Manager Shaffer thinks he has as fast a short stop as there is in the Virginia League. Besides this, Reeve is showing himself to be handy with the stick. He is good for his position, having had no opposition for the place, and no opposition having been found necessary to urge him to do his best.

Saturday. He was relieved after several innings. Memphis won the game. Virginia fans who saw Shuman last year believe that he will make good in fast company.

Speaking of his pitchers last night, Manager Shaffer said that only two of them, Salve and Cassidy, had been able to get into condition, and that even these two had not yet recovered their best form. Salve has made a fine showing, everything considered; but much better will be expected of him as soon as his throwing arm is in shape. Salve was far from being in perfect form when he pitched is Saturday's game, and he played the fifth inning under protest, his arm having become so sore that he could hardly use it. Even at that, however, his work was of a high order, and Captain Shaffer was much pleased.

Mælhall was hard put to if after the grievous error of the third-baseman, and that accounted in great part for his going to pieces. His arm, too, is still sore, and no pitcher can be extended.

Still will probably do the work in the box.

This will be Richmond College's second game with the professionals. The first game was won by the latter by the score of 16 to 7. The college man are in good trim, having been put through stiff practice every available day, and Coach Dunlap has every confidence that they will make a good shewing this afternoon. Etanton will impire the game.

Richmond College's line-up will be as follows: Richardson, third bays: Gardner, left-field; Lodge, catch; Martin, first base; Woodfin and Wright, pitchers: Gwathmey, second, base; Luck, centre-field, and Ezeklel, right-field.

Trinity College will play the Spiders at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. In Broad Street Park. The Trinity College team defeated Harvard last year, shuting them out. The strength of the team is also shown this year by the large scores they have piled up, recently defeating the strong team of the V. P. I. by 13 to 0.

The Blue Ridge Hunt was organized in 1888 at Millwood, Va., with a pack of American hounds, but after three years, a pack of English hounds was secured, and after two years' trial of these, American hounds were again purchased, as they were found best suited to a rough, wooded country.
